I think it is some sort of engastrimy, it's about the size of a softball and it's red like most engastrimy. It looks a lot like a vartio except that it is blue on the sides. It seems to be very agile, I don't know if it is because it is so small or because it looks it (?). It only weighs about 70 grams and it's about an inch long. I'm wondering if anyone knows what it is so I can add it to my fish list. Thanks Re: Isinkan (Piscatorial Engastrimy) 06-29-2004 10:42 AM Yeah, that may be a vartio, I think it would have to be a small one because I didn't see any on my otowas. Probably a small size vartio, something I have never seen before. I'm not sure it is an isinkan. 6d1f23a050
