two weeks after the radiation and transplant, the percentage of gfp+ cells in the spleen was 3% and in the liver it was 10% (figure 9.25a,b,f,g).figure 9.25gfp+ donor cell engraftment of the liver and spleen in irradiated and transplanted axolotls 2 weeks after blast cell injection. (a,b,f,g) the spleen shows minimal and no engraftment of donor cells (3%) and the liver is highly engrafted (10%). (c,e,h,i) donor cells (yellow) are present in the liver (red) and spleen (green). (d,h) donor cells (yellow) are present in the liver (red) and red region of the spleen (red). four weeks after the radiation and transplant, the percentage of gfp+ cells in the spleen was 3% and in the liver it was 8% (figure 9.25c,d,h,i).figure 9.25gfp+ donor cell engraftment of the liver and spleen in irradiated and transplanted axolotls 4 weeks after blast cell injection. (a,b) the spleen shows minimal and no engraftment of donor cells (3%) and the liver is highly engrafted (8%). (c,d,h,i) donor cells (yellow) are present in the liver (red) and spleen (green). (e) donor cells (yellow) are present in the liver (red). hepatic sinusoids were identified by confocal imaging of the liver; some sinusoids appear green, indicating gfp+ donor cell engraftment. the red box indicates an area of the liver that is magnified and presented at higher magnification. gfp+ donor cells are present in the liver. this finding was confirmed with direct histology. discussion: among workers in food processing industry, three-shift rotation work was associated with poor sleep quality. restless leg syndrome was diagnosed in up to 15% of workers. sleep quality was more adversely affected among workers in a three-shift rotation than among those in a day shift. 5ec8ef588b
