Canon MP230 manual (in Polish).Theresa May has warned that cuts to social care risk becoming a "death trap" for the elderly in Britain. The Prime Minister revealed that spending on welfare services is set to be frozen for a year and the amount of money spent on social care is to be cut by £3 billion. She added that the government is looking to reform social care so that people will be able to cover their social care costs within three years instead of seven, and is considering imposing a seven-week cap on payments to care homes. Mrs May made the comments during a speech in Wolverhampton, part of the Conservatives' general election campaign, which has been overshadowed by the party's Brexit position. She said: "Just as you are helping to decide where we live and work, you will be able to decide how we look after the vulnerable elderly, the sick, and the frail. "Our approach will protect social care from the threat of further cuts, give you choice and a longer-term plan to cover the costs of your care when you need it, and give you new powers to keep people in their homes rather than in hospital or other forms of care where they do not feel comfortable. "This will protect our long-term economic prosperity f988f36e3a
